License for mGuard Secure VPN Client v11.x

Product description

The VPN software client is a software application for connecting PCs to a virtual private network (VPN). The client expands the private network by means of a public, unsecure network, such as the Internet. Resources from remote networks can be accessed both securely and transparently. As a result, data can be transferred reliably between the client and the mGuard system.

You must activate the VPN software client after the test period at the latest. You will find the online activation under the menu item "License information and activation" under "Help". For offline activation, please go to:
